

Bag lady Aaditi Joshi

It may look like space age shrubbery but look closer at Aaditi Joshi's sculpture for Moonwalk and you'll see that it is made of something that can be seen around us all the time. To make this piece, Joshi fused together lots of plastic bags to turn them into this seemingly ethereal piece. The artists participating in Moonwalk are exploring various kinds of texture. See Warehouse at 3rd Pasta

Critics' choice

Where I Live

Hirji Gallery

Meera Devidayal takes you into dolls' house-like homes in the slums of Dharavi, Altamount Road and other parts of the city.

Moonwalk

Warehouse at 3rd Pasta

Aaditi Joshi, Nityanand Ojha and Tatheer Daryani fill up the cavernous gallery with their unusual sculptures.

Chance Encounters

Sakshi

Sculptural installations get curiouser and curiouser. Bisi Silva gives you a chance to see contemporary art from Africa.

Warehouse on 3rd Pasta

Moonwalk: Aaditi Joshi, Nityanand Ojha and Tatheer Daryani explore different kinds of texture in intriguing and bizarre sculptural installations. Ojha's outsized bone-shaped sculpture is very fetching. See picture caption. Ongoing. 6/7 3rd Pasta Lane, Colaba (2202-3056). 📍 Churugate (WR), CST (CR Main & Harbour). 📍 Colaba Market. Tue-Sun 11am-7pm.